Firemen Battle Flames to Save Several Dwellings

The valiant efforts of the fire department resulted on Monday in the curbing of a fire which threatened blocks of the eastern section of town. The fire was first noticed in an unused shed belonging to F. W. Glennan at the corner of Main and Bradford streets. The flames spread rapidly and the shed was entirely destroyed before the department succeeded in extinguishing the fire. During the fire in the shed, sparks from the burning building landed in the home of C. M. Shugert at 449 Walnut street. The Shugert house was badly damaged, one side being completely enveloped in flames which burned portions of the fence and the Shugert property. The fire also damaged a portion of the roof and that of A. O. Anderson on Bradford street.

Some damage was also done to buildings belonging to Ed. Samuels and fronting on Main street. From the burning buildings, sparks swept across Walnut street and landed in a field of grass east of that street. Several acres of grass were burned over and the fire was badly checked. The fire department was hampered by the fact that many of the members were away for the holidays and by the fact that the men were already tired from answering four alarms earlier in the afternoon. The other damage was from a rubbish fire in the intermediate school, a grass fire at Birch and Hopkins, a fire in the hills near Whipple road and a grass fire in Oakdale.

Citizen Objects to Restriction of Park

By D. E. O'Keefe

When the property owners of the county permitted themselves to be taxed to the tune of seventy thousand dollars to provide a playground, or rather a play ground, for the people, they supposed that the park would be free to every citizen, not monopolized by a certain organization that would tell them the playground was private property and they must move on. A few years ago a beautiful grove of redwoods lying between the Honda and Pescadero, was purchased by the supervisors at the request of the taxpayers, and was dedicated to the American Legion and was called Memorial Park. Considerable money was expended on the property in improvements and for the beautification of the splendid tract. The people who lived in the neighborhood of the park, and who were not hampered by the expense of any kind. This grove, however, has been shut out.

On July Fourth a prominent citizen of the county camped at the park for the day. In passing the section reserved by a certain organization he was held up by a man and told that he must move on as the property belonged to the organization. When he hesitated to move on and loudly and angrily told the guards that he would not as the land was a public park and not reserved by any organization, he was threatened with arrest. This is a pretty state of affairs. The people ungrudgingly provided the funds for a playground and were not allowed to use it or enjoy its beauties because some organization wants to monopolize it for its own enjoyment and comfort.

Just imagine what would happen if any organization or set of men would attempt such a thing in the Yosemite or in the Sierras. They would at once be sent back and baggage post some months ago when camp privileges were granted by the board of supervisors the campers were informed that the park was to be free to all and that no monopoly of any kind was to be attempted. The attempt to reserve any portion of the park to be tolerated. This was strictly understood and all agreed to obey the rules laid down by the supervisor.

NEW LINE FROM LAKE CONSIDERED BY SAN FRANCISCO

Application of the Spring Valley Water Company to construct a pipe line from San Andreas lake to Laguna Honda reservoir with connections to other storage reservoirs in the city, was considered this week by the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco. Representatives of the water company, the City Engineer's office and of civic organizations appeared to discuss the proposition.

The engineers said the city's average daily water consumption is 46,000,000 gallons, and that the capacity of the pipe lines leading into the city from the Spring Valley lakes was 47,000,000 gallons daily. City Engineer O'Shaughnessy said that on one day the city used 58,000,000 gallons of water. O'Shaughnessy declared that the situation was dangerous and immediate construction of the pipe line was demanded for protection of the city both as to water consumption and in case of fire. The proposed line would have a capacity of 30,000,000 gallons.

LOCAL WOMAN ASKS DIVORCE; CRUELTY

A suit for divorce was filed last Saturday in the superior court here by Mrs. Augusta Pleck. Mrs. Pleck charges that her husband, Eugene Pleck, a truck driver employed by the city street department, beat her. She asks the custody of a minor child and community property located at 412 Spruce street. Mrs. Pleck was formerly Miss Agusta Adams.

BAY ACTION LAID OVER BY BOARD

The battle between the board of supervisors of San Francisco and F. J. Carry, who is seeking a franchise for a bay bridge in the northern part of this county is scheduled for July 18. The matter was to have been staged at the meeting of the board of supervisors of this county this week when Carry was to have appeared for a franchise, but was laid over at the request of Carry's attorney, Hall C. Ross, until July 18.

A telegram was received from Supervisor McSheehy of San Francisco, who is in Washington endeavoring to secure a war department order on the proposed San Francisco bridge at Rincon point. In his telegram, McSheehy asked that the San Mateo county board lay the matter off after a decision is reached on the San Francisco bridge.

A communication from Acting Mayor Warren Shannon of San Francisco was also received supplementing McSheehy's telegram and asking that a continuance of 30 days be granted. It was at this point that Ross asked that the continuance be granted until July 18. This action was taken by the board. City Engineer O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco was present and explained San Francisco's plans concerning the bay bridge situation.

R. Guy Smith of Moss Beach, president of the Coastside Civic Union, then appeared before the board and opposed the action proposed by San Francisco. "San Francisco is all for San Francisco," stated Smith, "and not for San Mateo county." He then pointed out the action of the board of supervisors of San Francisco in declining to join with this county and Santa Cruz county in the construction of a highway along the ocean shore right of way. "If San Francisco has spent as much money," Smith stated, "in improving transportation into this county as it has in the bay bridge proposition, the results would be far more gratifying."

"A bridge large and strong enough to carry railroad trains as well as a motor road would make the peninsula the terminal which it should be," Smith stated. "Why," he asked, "let San Francisco's bridge take commuters and home-seekers to the east bay region instead of here in San Mateo county?"

In 1926 the total value of the county was $43,605,710 and the grand total was $45,756,010.

BOLES RADIO DEN IN NEW LOCATION

Boles Radio Den, which for the past three years has been located in the Gardner building on Broadway, has removed to a new location at 618 Broadway next to the Piggy Wiggy store. The new location is proving a good one, according to R. A. Boles, one of the proprietors, and he is expected to give a further boost to the business section of Redwood City.

The store is being arranged for the new business and Boles is having the most modern and convenient equipment installed for the display and demonstration of radios as well as for their repair and servicing. Booths for the display of radio sets are now being installed, and the latest in battery charging equipment is now in use.

SIGNAL POST SMASHED ON BROADWAY

The "wooden Indian," also popularly known as the "lighthouse," but technically denominated a "signal policeman," which has weathered many traffic jams at the corner of Broadway and the highway, had another chapter added to its already eventful career, Monday night. The traffic was heavy and the "wooden Indian" was bravely at its post warning motorists with its flashing red lights. But red lights meant little to Thomas Reynolds, a bookkeeper of San Francisco, who took the middle of the highway to avoid the rush, and ran headlong into the warning signal.

The signal was thrown from its concrete pedestal, and crushed to fragments upon the highway. Reynolds' car was also somewhat damaged by the impact. Reynolds was arrested by Officers Thorp and Mengels and jailed on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The matter of replacing the signal was discussed by the board of trustees Tuesday evening. While there was a suggestion that the signal be discontinued at the intersection, Chief of Police Collins stated that the signal was a valuable aid to the traffic situation at this busy corner.

The signal has been wrecked on several occasions, but has always been repaired at the expense of the one wrecking it. It was suggested that the concrete base be made higher so that cars would not strike the signal, but this suggestion was not adopted, as it was thought that this would make the signal a menace to the public, and might result in a serious wreck.

Chief Collins stated that if the signal had not been there at the time it was wrecked Monday night that Reynolds' car could not have missed wrecking another machine which was crossing the highway. The car was stopped by the crash with the signal.

ECONOMY MEASURES ADOPTED BY TOWN

A number of economy measures suggested by City Treasurer B. E. Myers were accepted and acted upon by the board of trustees of this city at their meeting Tuesday evening.

The measures suggested were that the services of the man who has been caring for the lawn in front of the city hall be dispensed with and that the care of the lawn be entrusted to the city gardener, and that the services of the janitor of the library be also discontinued. The janitor work of the library will be done by a new janitor to be appointed for the city hall. Henry Offerman, who has been doing the janitor work in the city hall is to be given the position of looking after the furnace and opening the hall in the evening.

These measures were to be submitted to the board of trustees of the library for their consideration.

The city treasurer was also authorized to supervise the collection of water rates and to act as purchasing agent for the various city offices.

Myers also suggested that the different city departments furnish an annual report. This was given considerable discussion and approval to meet with the approval of all departments represented at the meeting. It was suggested that the matter be given further consideration and if found advisable that the departments furnish such reports next year.

FURTHER ACTION IS ASKED FOR ALAMEDA

The proceedings on the opening of the Alameda de las Pulgas were given a further boost Tuesday evening when the board of trustees of Redwood City received a request that sections of the proposed highway through this city be declared a public right of way. City Attorney Mansfield explained that before the board of supervisors can proceed with the proposed improvement they must be assured by the trustees of the town that the road is a public property.

The matter was referred to City Attorney Mansfield, who will have the necessary proceedings ready for the next meeting of the board.

SEWER CONTRACT IS LET THROUGH ERROR

When City Clerk W. A. Price in reading bids for the sewer contract for the Lenholt tract at a recent meeting of the board of trustees read a bid as an 8 he caused the contract to be awarded to Harvey E. Connors. Later, after the contract had been awarded, Smith called upon the trustees and showed how his bid had been misread, making him one of the high bidders, whereas his bid was under that of Connors.

At the meeting Tuesday a resolution was introduced by City Attorney Mansfield rectifying the error and rescinding the former action of the board. Another resolution awarding the contract to Smith was also presented and passed by the board.

NEW LAW IN EFFECT

The new law passed by the late legislature raising the price of hunting and angling licenses will go into effect on January 1 of next year. A person securing a license now will be at the usual fee of one dollar and will remain good until its expiration on June 30, 1928. After January 1 the fee will be $2 for any citizen over the age of 18 years; under 18, $1; non-residents, $10; not raised; declarant, alien $10; alien $25. Angling license: citizen $2; non-resident $3; alien $5.

A new law has also been adopted by the legislature which goes into effect on July 29 requiring all deer hunters to secure a deer tag costing $1, this in addition to the regular hunting license. A person killing a deer must place the tag on the deer's horn with date and address of the killer. A duplicate tag properly filled out in ink or by an indelible pencil must be forwarded to the State Fish and Game Commission so that that body may keep a record of the deer killed in the state. A deer killed in an open district may be carried into a closed district, providing the tag properly signed is on the horn of the deer.

NEW BANK PRESIDENT BORN IN SAN FRANCISCO

The stork swooped down on San Francisco Tuesday leaving a baby boy, but on his return journey he stopped at the First National Bank of this city and left a broad smile on the face of Edward T. Harrison, vice-president and cashier of the local bank.

The boy was born in San Francisco to Mrs. Harrison, who was formerly Miss Dorris Fagan, daughter of James J. Fagan of Woodside, president of the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison also make their home in Woodside. The future financier has been named James Edward.

Robert Harmon Clark, a pharmacist's mate on board the U. S. S. Nevada, is visiting here at the home of his uncle, Rev. Aubrey H. Clark.

Lily in the Desert

A member of the lily family is the Joshua tree, a true desert growth. Unusually gaunt and twisted, growing usually in twos and threes, these trees seem to be neither tree nor shrub—too stunted to be the first and too grotesque to be the last, says Nature Magazine. Many of them are blackened by fire. Some are rotted down and broken off. They serve as bonfire for desert wanderers, although sagebrush and greasewood are more easily gathered.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

A new effort to have the theory of evolution taught in the public schools of California as an established fact has ended at naught. A plea on the part of Maynard Shipley, president of the Science League of America, that the state board of education rescind its action of a year ago when it ruled that text books dealing with evolution must treat the subject only as a theory, was denied by the educators in session at San Francisco last week.

Frank G. Snook, superintendent of the motor vehicle department has advised motorists and traffic officers that cars equipped with magneto-operated headlights without the use of a battery will be banned from the State highways after September 1. The ban on machines so equipped was enacted by the 1923 Legislature, the time elapsing since then having been given to permit owners to re-equip their cars.

Although the season has yet experienced no forest fires of serious consequence, grain crops and pasture lands have suffered considerable losses in various sections of the state. A wheat and barley field near Woodland was destroyed with a loss of $40,000. 46,000 acres of pasture land near Gustine, Merced county were swept by flames. Thousands of quail perished in this fire. 15,000 acres of grass, valuable for cattle, were destroyed near Walnut Creek, Contra Costa county. A loss of $15,000 was sustained when 500 acres of wheat and barley in Sutter county were burned in a fire started by sparks from a tractor.

For the second time in two years the R. O. T. C. unit of the University of California at Los Angeles has won distinguished college honors from the War Department, which gives the institution a standing equivalent to that of West Point.

Lack of surface water is given as a cause for the dwindling quail population of the state in protected preserves by Dr. Joseph Grinnell, curator of the museum of vertebrate zoology at the University of California, and editor of The Condor, popular bird magazine. Dr. Grinnell in a survey of the southern part of the state where water is scarce anyway, has found that practically every spring and surface flow has been tapped for domestic consumption. As a result, young quail which must be within 400 yards or walking distance of water, within a few hours of hatching in order to live, usually die.

The movement for a federal building in Red Bluff, started over ten years ago by local post office officials, chamber of commerce officers and civic bodies, and which is held to be the major civic project there today, has materialized, and construction of the $75,000 edifice will be started by September 15th.

California, with Northern California taking the lead, is represented at the Nevada Trans-continental Highways Exposition in a great exhibition of the resources of the Golden State at Reno. The beautiful California Building was found inadequate to meet the demands for space, with the result an annex, a great blue and gold tent, was added.

Restoration work at the San Juan mission is progressing satisfactorily. Fifteen-inch walls are now up to the second floor level. Floor laying is in progress and the building will be practically completed by the last of September.

The interstate commerce commission received formal notice last week that construction on a new sixty-one mile line of railroad, connecting Cornejo, Siskiyou county, Cal., with Alturas, Cal., began June 14th. Alturas is a point on the California-Nevada Oregon Railroad. Permission to undertake the construction was granted several months ago. When the line is completed it will give the Southern Pacific Company, which controls the Central Pacific Railroad, a through line north from San Francisco into Central Oregon.

Five crews have been sent to traffic centers of the state in opening a state-wide campaign against overloaded trucks, by the State Division of Motor Vehicles. This number will be increased later in the year, says Frank G. Snook, chief of the division. These crews will have headquarters in the following cities: San Jose for the south coast counties; Fresno for San Joaquin valley; Sacramento for Sacramento valley and Northern Sierra Nevada regions; Ukiah for north coast counties and Santa Ana for Southern California.

Atop the Merced Exchequer dam, Lake McClure was dedicated June 26 to the memory of Wilbur Fisk McClure. More than 100 engineers and their friends from Sacramento, Stockton, San Francisco, Fresno, Los Angeles and other points, journeyed to the Merced Exchequer dam, to participate in the ceremonies and assisted in placing a bronze plaque which bears the following inscription: "Lake McClure, named by Merced Irrigation District in honor of Wilbur Fisk McClure, 1857-1926. State engineer, 1912-1926. In appreciation of his lovable character and in recognition of his engineering service in the advancement of irrigation in California."

Hundreds of spectators, including newspaper men, camera men and engineers from throughout the West, gathered on a hillside in the Tehachapi valley last week, saw an entire mountain lifted into the air and dropped, a crumbling mass, when the Monolith Portland Cement Company fired the largest charge of dynamite ever placed in a cement quarry in the United States. One hundred tons of dynamite exploded under the mountain, which will supply the kilns of the cement plant for another year.

Assailing the intricacies of jurisdiction, which have brought about a serious neglect of the health, education and general well-being of the 17,000 Indians in California, the State Department of Public Welfare, in a report recently made public, declares that the Indian problem is an ordinary but much neglected social problem, which calls for carefully planned constructive social service for immediate improvement.

Victim of a living death, Mrs. Clara Drummond, 20, of Fresno, has completed the thirteenth week of a strange coma that has attracted nationwide attention. Her condition has not changed since April 4, when she was discovered unconscious in a gas-filled room at her home. Medical science has done all in its power to break the strange coma, which points, according to doctors who have been treating her, to certain death. At the County General Hospital she lies inert, breathing, but that is all. Physicians are certain that she is suffering from gas poisoning. Mrs. Drummond has stubbornly clung to life for more than 2000 hours in a semi-comatose condition, although she is unable to eat, speak, hear, see, move her limbs or body. She is forcibly fed through the nostrils with peptonized milk and orange juice.

A Baranoff, 57 years of age, said to have the title of Count and to be a member of one of Russia's old noble families, died at Silver Lake last week as a result of heat prostration. The asserted nobleman, accompanied by two Los Angeles business men, entered Death Valley to look over some prospective mining sites. They became lost and were forced to remain out in the desert during a whole day without water. After locating water, Baranoff is said to have consumed too much and became ill. His companions took him to Silver Lake. There he became prostrated and died. He was buried at Silver Lake by his companions.

For the purpose of transferring a surplus fund, now in the special sewer-construction fund, in order that the money may be made available for construction of a municipal playground and swimming pool, a municipal election will probably be called in Tulare at an early date.

Pasadena's telephones were switched to the dial system of operation at midnight June 25. The operation occupied but seven minutes' of time, which is a world's record for magnitude and speed, according to officials of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, which operates the system.

Hillis Nelson, former resident of Exeter, has just contracted with Arthur Brisbane to grade and seed 25,000 acres of land in the Mojave Desert. According to reports more than 500 mules will be needed for the project in addition to a small army of men, trucks and tractors.

A fire, believed started by sparks from a motor truck, burned over several hundred acres of grain and grazing land in Cana district, near Chico last week, causing losses estimated at $5000. A crew of seventy-five battled the flames which were fanned by a driving wind.

FAMOUS MINING STRIKES

By THOMAS E. STEWARD

San Luis Potosi in Bolivia

STORIES of such treasure strikes as those of the Comstock Lode and Goldfield, Nev., are events of but yesterday in the history of mining in the new world. As a matter of fact one of the richest mining strikes ever made in the western hemisphere took place before the founding of Plymouth Bay colony in Massachusetts by the Pilgrims in the year 1620.

Spain was not slow about seeking out the treasure houses of South America after the discoveries by Columbus showed them the way to a new world in which, they supposed, there was an endless treasure of gold and precious stones. The mountain heights, thin atmosphere and blasting winds of the upper Andes, where what is now called the republic of Bolivia lies, were no more left unexplored than were the hot and easily accessible coastal plains.

Historians of South America tell how in the sixteenth century the Spanish made a tremendous find of treasure in Bolivia, then part of Peru, and called the mine San Luis Potosi. This is a name that recurs at several places in Latin-America, but no other "Potosi" has been as great as that at San Luis in Bolivia. "Potosi" is a Spanish word meaning a sudden and unexpected endowment of wealth, the same thing that English or Americans would call a "bonanza."

And Potosi was the right word to describe the treasure of Bolivia.

Early accounts describe San Luis Potosi as a typical mining community. There was an exceptionally dazzling "fast life" in the place, as the isolation and hardships of life drove white men living there to seek forgetfulness of their exile and loneliness in dissipation. Whatever were the sixteenth century equivalents of the western dance halls and drinking bars sprang up in profusion in the Bolivian Andes. Men who made wealth in the mines spent it like water. Yet the provisions of the Spanish government covering ownership of colonial mines were extremely strict, and there can be no doubt that most of it was borne home to Spain in the royal galleons.

It was upon the ships from San Luis and other South American treasure houses that the English privateers, such as Morgan and Sir Francis Drake, preyed in the period of Spain's splendor. And it was in a battle between such men as they and Spain's proudest fleet, the Armada, that Spanish grandeur was destined to start on a downward path, while English sea power began the rise which carried it to its present eminence.

South African Diamond Strike

IN ABOUT the year 1870 a black herdsman in the Orange Free State of South Africa picked up a handsome yellow stone which he gave to the child of his Dutch employer as a plaything. Eventually it was proved to be a diamond of unusual worth. This is one of three stories told of the early discovery of diamonds in the Orange River country. A trader saw what he felt sure was a remarkable diamond in the hands of a Kaffir medicine man. The fellow had been working some marvelous "cures" with it, according to the stories told by the black folk of the countryside. It was so valuable in his eyes, for that reason, that the trader, for quite another reason, had to pay him many cattle, sheep and sundries, to get possession of the stone. It proved to be the famous "Star of Africa," which was later sold for $125,000.

Another story tells how a child at a Bullfontein farm picked from the stucco wall of his father's home a diamond of some worth. This is commonly given as the episode that set all the world to paying attention to the tremendous diamond wealth of South Africa.

Working the diamond mines, which are deep shafts of blue earth, containing the diamonds as scattered deposits here and there, became an extremely expensive process, and only companies of large means were able to carry on the work successfully. From this situation arose the famous competition for control of important diggings between Cecil Rhodes, the colossus of South African development, and Barney Barnato. Eventually the Rhodes faction came out on top, but Barnato retained enough interest in the South African fields to become the center of a group of tremendously wealthy and influential men.

In addition to the blue-earth diamond deposits, South Africa has diamonds on alluvial sand beds, which the miners wash and pan, much as placer gold is sought. From time to time, even to this day, tracts of these alluvial diamond lands are opened to the public, and a great rush ensues. Those who wish to file are held back a distance of two miles from the land that is to be opened until the word is given for them to start. Then they race with all speed for the site of their claims. Claims are restricted to tracts 45 feet square, and one person can take up only one claim on the first day. Thereafter, additional claims can be taken. The price of the claims is only nominal, but it is said that less than 2 per cent of those who stake claims ever get any adequate returns from their searching.

When Bruce Bairnsfather was a captain in the British Army in France, he drew cartoons of the Tommies which were published in The London Bystander. The most famous of these cartoons showed Old Bill and Alf in a shell hole. Alf was grumbling and Bill said, "If you know a better 'ole, go to it." The cartoon was developed into a vaudeville sketch, then into the play which ran two years in London and which was played by five companies in the United States. The big hit of the screen version is now bringing "The Better 'Ole" history to a climax. It is being shown next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Sequoia.

DAVID A. CRABTREE KIWANIS SPEAKER

David A. Crabtree, formerly pastor of the Episcopal church in this city, was the speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Redwood City Kiwanis club. As this was the week following the Fourth of July, his topic was one of patriotism and citizenship. The address was much enjoyed by the Kiwanians.

The chairman of the meeting was Roy W. Cloud, city superintendent of schools, who was introduced by Elmore B. Hinman. Hinman was the first president of the Redwood City Kiwanis club, and was asked to preside at the meeting this week by President C. G. Lambert.

John Layng and C. M. Doxsee, who have recently returned from trips to the east, gave short and interesting talks on their adventures.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR AUGUST WM. THORN

Funeral services were held on Monday at the parlors of Layng & Tinney for August William Thorn, who passed away on Saturday at his home at 940 Clinton street, following a long illness. The deceased was a native of Germany and was 67 years of age. He had been a resident of California for 50 years and of Redwood City for the past five years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pauline Thorn, and by three sons. Interment was in Alta Mesa cemetery.

"BETTER 'OLE" IS BIG WAR PICTURE

While Warner Bros. production of "The Better 'Ole," starring Syd Chaplin and directed by Charles F. Reisner, has been hailed as one of the greatest comedies ever filmed, it is also one of the big pictures of the World War.

Unlike most war pictures, every bit of "The Better 'Ole," which is the picturization of Bruce Bairnsfather's world-famous cartoons and stage-play revolving around the character of Old Bill Busby, the British Tommy, is staged in the war zone in the front line British trenches or in the French village or countryside just behind them.

"The Better 'Ole" is in no sense a burlesque. Everything is as nearly technically correct and like the real thing over there, as real German and British soldiers who served during the war, an unlimited amount of research, a French designer and several military technical directors could make it. Nothing is far-fetched or ridiculously improbable.

Reisner has simply taken the war as it was, left out as much of the tragedy as possible, and emphasized its humorous aspects. "The Better 'Ole" has thrills, suspense and merriment as well as every kind of laughter. It has some of the greatest battle scenes ever made, and some of the most idyllically picturesque rural settings. It is not just a loose-knit stringing together of irrelevant gags, but a logical, articulate, absorbing story told from a humorous viewpoint.

Mr. Chaplin is supported by Doris Hill, Harold Goodwin, Theodore Lorch, Ed Kennedy, Charles Gerrard, Tom McGuire, Jack Ackroyd, Tom Kennedy, Arthur Clayton, Kewpie Morgan and 500 ex-British and German soldiers.

"The Better 'Ole" comes to the Sequoia Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Testing Times

On a levee at a bend in the Mississippi a thousand men were building with sand-bags a second-line defense against rising waters which threatened hundreds of miles of fertile cropland. Over a telephone, housed in a wooden box nailed to a tree, an engineer was talking to headquarters—reporting on the progress of the work, asking for reinforcements and additional material, receiving Weather Bureau forecasts which would be vitally important to him in planning the strategy of this grim battle for lives and property.

The telephone had been put in service but a few minutes before, after a construction crew had worked from sunrise to sunset, often waist-deep in swamp water, to string fifteen miles of line to this isolated outpost.

Such is telephone service in an emergency—service in which telephone men and women do very much the same things they do every day of their lives, but do them under conditions that give vivid emphasis to the import of their efficiency, devotion, and fidelity to public interests.

In such crises, when even the most commonplace of calls may become a matter of life or death, the public realizes its day-by-day dependence upon the telephone and upon the men and women who make of it an instrumentality of human service.

Anticipating Your Canning Needs

Long before the season for canning fruits and vegetables is on in earnest the Safetyway Man has planned and provided, in enormous quantities, the things you are going to want. First comes fruit jars. With the purchasing power of more than a thousand retail outlets he buys several carloads of jars, besides caps and rubbers in enormous quantities. Then sugar, bought by the shipload. Finally, fresh fruits and vegetables—the finest he can find—bought in huge lots by an expert on the ground in the West's principal growing centers. The result of this extensive planning and preparation is that our stores will supply your canning requirements this season at savings which are possible only with the West's largest food concern.

WANT SIDEWALKS ON JEFFERSON AVENUE

A petition signed by a large number of residents of Jefferson Avenue was received by the board of trustees Tuesday evening. The petition stated that some of the property owners had installed sidewalks in front of their property, while others had not. This caused people to walk in the street which was dangerous. The petition asked that the board require all property owners to install sidewalks.

On motion of Trustee Dearborn the matter was referred to City Engineer Dimmitt and he was instructed to draw up plans and specifications for sidewalks on this avenue.

BONDING HOUSE ASKES INTEREST

A request was received by the board of trustees that interest on improvement bonds issued in 1911 be paid. The request was from the bond house of A. L. Chambers of San Francisco. The money had been collected, the statement alleged, by the late Frank W. Towne, but had not been paid to the company holding the bonds.

An opinion was asked of City Attorney Bert Mansfield. Mansfield stated that the city was not legally liable for the interest on improvement bonds, as this was a matter entirely between the property owners in the district and the city treasurer. However, he stated, the city had a moral obligation and could not afford to have anyone lose on a bond of the city.

Mansfield stated that the city could not at the present time meet the obligation, but that as soon as possible the interest should be paid. City Treasurer B. E. Myers was instructed to write to the bond house to this effect. He was also instructed to state that it would possibly be convenient for the town to make up the shortage out of the first taxes to be received.

BANK OF ITALY

An index to the statewide prosperity of California is furnished in the current mid-year statement of the Bank of Italy showing a gain in deposits during the past three months of more than $31,000,000. The complete statement is published today for the first time.

Aggregate deposits of the bank are in excess of $600,000,000, as compared with $569,000,000 at the time of the last report—March 23. The increase, therefore, has been at the rate of more than $2,250,000 a week for the entire period. At the same time, the number of depositors has grown from 1,065,000 to 1,140,000, easily preserving for the Bank of Italy its rank as first in the United States in point of patronage.

Resources of the bank have increased $21,000,000—from $654,000,000 to $675,000,000—during this same period. The chief gains, in addition to deposits, are shown in the surplus and profits account, where an increase of over $3,000,000 is shown.

James A. Baccigalupi, president of the bank, said that the quarter just closed has been one of the most satisfactory in the history of the institution. "The more than three millions of dollars, added to the surplus and profits account after all charge-offs, deduction of expense items, payment of interest and dividends, while accounted for in part by certain profits accruing from adjustments, upon the perfection of the bank's consolidation, still evidences the substantial progress the bank is making. The fact that our board of directors has seen fit to increase the dividend rate is in itself ample proof of their confidence in the earning power of the institution."

The Bank of Italy, together with the National Bank of California (formerly the Stockholders Auxiliary Corporation, the stock of which is owned by the stockholders of the bank, now has a combined capital investment of $100,000,000. Of the total, more than $60,000,000 is in the capital, surplus and profits account of the Bank of Italy.

'COURAGE AND ENDURANCE' MERIT GOLD MEDAL

A Theodore N. Vail gold medal and $500 cash has been awarded to Oscar T. Koon, a telephone section lineman of West Palm Beach, Florida, "for initiative, courage and endurance in the public service at a time of disaster," according to an announcement issued today by The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

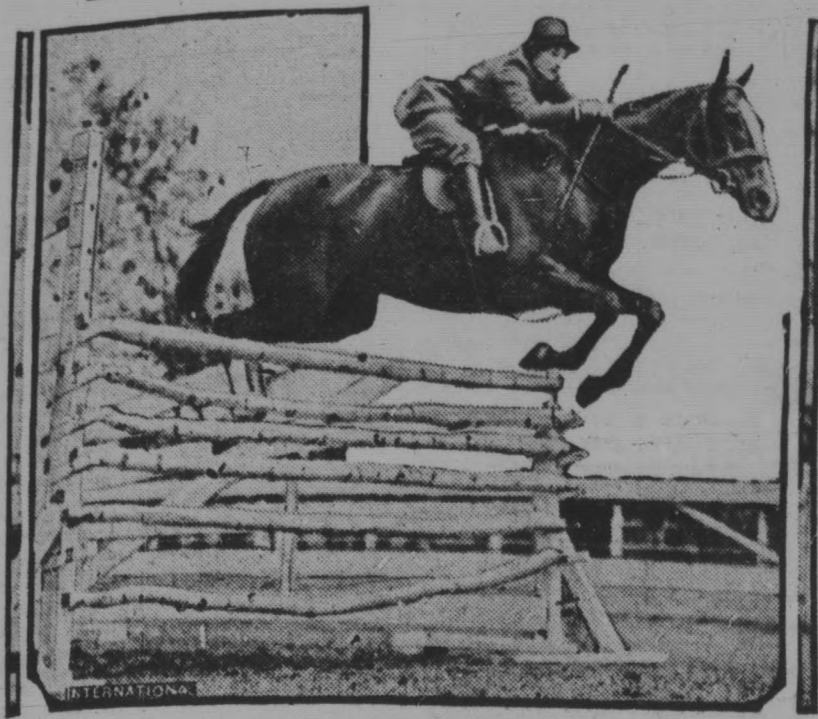

When the great hurricane recently swept Miami, Florida, Koon in the face of numberless hazards and in the midst of the storm fought his way from stricken Miami to West Palm Beach bringing the first word of the disaster to the outside world. It was Koon's report of damage done to telephone lines that made possible prompt reestablishment of telephone communication with Miami.

Vail silver medals "for noteworthy public service" and awards of $250 cash have been given by the National Committee of Award to each of the following Bell System employees: C. P. Plumstead, wire chief, Dover, N. J., for restoring telephone communications in the danger zone during the height of the recent explosions at the Lake Denmark naval stores base. H. R. Horn and H. T. Wyckoc, repairmen, Dover, who shared Plumstead's heroic task. Mrs. I. M. Spradley, operator, Tennyson, Indiana, for maintaining telephone communication during a great fire and saving Tennyson from disaster, without thought of her own safety. B. F. Hadley, manager, Hadley, Michigan, for thwarting a bank robbery by spreading the alarm; for establishing telephone communication by emergency measures, when he found that all toll lines from the town had been cut and, finally, for his work with the posse which eventually captured the bandits.

The Vail Medal awards are made annually and are provided for by the Vail Memorial Fund established as a memorial to Theodore N. Vail, late president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Lorraine Liggett Seen Jumping

Southpaws Once Annoyed Clancy

John "Bud" Clancy, the young man who has been holding down first base for the Chicago White Sox, received his early training in the Mint league.

Clancy was one of the best players ever turned out by the Michigan league, and one season, while playing with Muskegon, hit in 40 consecutive games.

Clancy played one year with Grand Rapids and then was signed with Muskegon. He was under option to the White Sox at the time. Clancy had one marked weakness while playing with Muskegon. He could not hit against left-handers.

Wins St. Louis Fans

Frankie Frisen, shown in the photo, who succeeded Rogers Hornsby at second base for the St. Louis Cardinals, has won the hearts of the St. Louis fans by his sensational fielding and heavy hitting. He is playing better this season than he ever did for the New York Giants.

Sport Notes

Golf socks at $20 a pair ought to be designed good.

The Epsom derby is considered the greatest horse race in the world.

Tooting Bee is the name of one of the oldest golf courses in England.

"Fore!" in golf was originally "Be-fore!" similar to the sailor's "Be-low!"

Scorer, a comparatively new game in the United States, is played by 250, 100 men.

The first essential of a present-day heavyweight champion seems to be that he mustn't fight.

Carroll Liebenberger, who plays point, was elected captain of the 1928 Johns Hopkins lacrosse team.

Dr. Alexander Alekhine, who once played 23 chess games simultaneously while blindfolded, is said to know most of the faster games of the last 20 years from memory.

Johnny McAvoy, popular New York referee, who was a jockey about 35 years ago, until a spill forced him out of the game, has become the owner of Lachen, a four-year-old thoroughbred.

Bob Gardner, golfer of international fame and captain of Walker cup teams, made a reputation as a track athlete at Yale, where he held the world's pole vault record, being the first to reach 13 feet.

Robert Thompson, Scotch golf pro, who has been appointed to the Riverside Golf Club of Toronto, is proud of the fact that both his father and grandfather were professionals in the ancient game before him.

Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, is believed to be the greatest all-around athlete an American school ever produced.

The athletic commission in Illinois has put an age limit of 45 years on wrestlers. The next step would be a limit of 45 years on bouts.

Gertrude Ederle is certainly in the theatrical swim and finds her experiment of using grease paint in doing the English channel of value to her on the stage.

Stagg Relents and Signs for Telephone

Amos Alonzo Stagg was a boy in short pants when Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone 51 years ago, but only recently has the famous coach capitulated to the invention.

Stagg agreed to have a telephone installed in his home, a mile from the university—but he yielded only half way. It is a one-way phone. He can call in, but nobody can call in.

Stagg, now sixty-three, got along without a phone all his life because he did not want to be disturbed after going to bed nightly between 8 and 8:30, as is his custom.

HOPSI INDIAN SET MARATHON RECORD

Watussi People Cannot Hop in Temperate Climate.

Leading 134 American track stars by 150 yards, a Hopi Indian set a new marathon record recently in a Long Island race. He overcame the handicap of coming from an arid climate 7,000 feet up in the Rockies down to humid sea level.

More records would fall to primitive peoples, according to the report of an American explorer in a communication to the National Geographic society, if the Watussi could jump as successfully in a temperate climate as in the Tropics.

"A line, which could be raised or lowered at will, was stretched between two slender trees standing on an incline," wrote a spectator at track events among the Watussi people of Tanganyika. "The athletes had to run up to this and jump from a small termite heap a foot in height. Despite these unfavorable conditions, exhibitions were given which would place all European efforts in the shade. The best jumpers—slender, but splendid figures, with an almost Indian profile—attained the incredible height of 8 feet 2 inches, and young boys made the relatively no less wonderful performance of five feet."

"Then a number of young Watussi exhibited their remarkable skill in javelin throwing. Taking a run of ten steps, bending backwards almost to the ground, they hurled their javelins up to prodigious heights, and with such impetus that two of the spear-shafts broke in the air from the vibration. It was the same with the shooting-matches with bow and arrow, in which the trunk of a banana tree was used for the butt. The shooting average at 150 feet was really good."

"Great strength is required to bend the bow correctly, and to draw it to its fullest extent long years of practice are necessary. The elasticity of the bow, which is from 4 feet to 4 feet 9 inches in height, is extraordinarily great, and with the bow-string drawn to its fullest extent the arrow flies a distance of 200 paces."

"Running races, too, were organized, but owing to the lack of the necessary measuring instruments I am, unfortunately, not in a position to give the time. I have no doubt, however, that in this department, also, the European records were at least equalled."

Kansas Sensation

The photograph shows Bernard "Poco" Frazier, 115-pound sensation of the University of Kansas, who has won five consecutive races, broken two records, and is still in his first year of varsity competition. His most noteworthy feat was in beating Philip Osif, Haskell Indian star, in a two-mile event. Osif is the national six-mile junior and senior champ of the United States.

Outfielder Dick Loftus Stars as First Baseman

The theory that a flycatcher has no place in the infield has been rudely jolted by Dick Loftus, young Minneapolis player.

Substituting at first base, Loftus furnished the big punch in an early season spurt which put Minneapolis out in front in the American association.

Obtained in a trade with Brooklyn, Loftus came in from center field to do some first-sacking in a pinch and distinguished himself by figuring in four double-plays in one game, starting two himself.

Playing With Vim

The Boston Braves are playing with a vim this year. As fans remember the Braves have been a great club for finishing in fine style and starting like a last-place team. This season they are evidently going to make the best of the early season, which means that they should have a good chance to finish as high as fourth place.

They have a batting punch, a winning enthusiasm, a fine infield and a strong corps of pitchers. And in addition to this, the fans are pulling with them.

SWAGGER WAISTCOATS POPULAR; STYLING NEW COTTON WEAVES

A WAISTCOAT with every swagger leads up to a point of vital importance to the home dressmaker—the necessity of giving a most flattering attention to smart detail in the making of the wash-fabric dress.

Quality-kind cottons are now considered quite the proper thing for street and office wear as well as for informal "at home" affairs, also afternoon events at country clubs, which means, of course, that they must be fashioned accordingly. So smartly in the mode are the better cotton textiles former. Society is ordering flesh-colored, beige or white suits waistcoats mannishly tailored to a nicety. Waistcoats of pique, madras shirting and printed linens are also good looking. Other favored fabrics for the waistcoat are striped or plain broadcloth, pongee and jacquard rayon.

Most waistcoat styling subscribes to strictly mannish effects. The vertical or the double-breasted closing is adopted and in the more feminine modes the surprise effect is noted. Sometimes the front opening is scalloped, with pearl buttons adding to the effect. Notched revers and collars distinguish the smartly tailored waistcoat.

Sometimes crisscross tucking or sunburst tucks relieve the severity. In the softer gird and vestee models, jabots are outstanding.

The vestee of Scotch plaid infesta with cuffs to match is also a happy acquisition in the summer accessory collection. White crepe satin embrodered in metal or in black or in pure white, handsomely contributes to the waistcoat mode.

Not only is the mannishly tailored waistcoat in good style, Lacy lingerie effects are also competing for honors. Sleeveless lace waistcoats are designed especially for wear with the jacket suit. These come in white and natural colors, also dyed tones and tints.

Many of the handomest waistcoats of cloth or silk are bound with narrow grosgrain ribbon.

One cannot but be impressed with the enthusiasm shown for fine cotton weaves this season, from a distinctly fashion angle. Where once we were about to see silks and satins on dress parade, behold! today ravishing gingham, satins, piques and the like have joined the procession. Which

GAY NIGHTIES

The loveliest new nightrobes are of gayly printed mulls or crepe de chine, with ribbons to match the flowers of the pattern.

ITALIAN SCARFS

The vogue of pastel tints has revived an old fashion, that of wearing a scarf of Roman striped silk with knotted fringes at each end.

MOST POPULAR

No form of trimming is more popular on evening gowns than a combination of jewels and embroidery with a little gold or silver interwoven.

Professor Forgot All About Dinner Party

The absent-minded professor who, starting to dress for a formal dinner, thought he was getting ready for bed and was found there by his wife, has a rival for wool-gathering honors in a certain English dean. This dean had invited some friends to dine at his house, and on their arrival a little ahead of time he suggested that in the interval of waiting they might like to walk through the grounds.

After spending a quarter of an hour admiring the flowers, shrubs and greenhouses, they came suddenly upon a door in the wall. "Ah," said the dean to his astonished guests, "this will be a much nearer way home than going back to the front," and all unconscious of his invitation he opened the door and bowed them out.—Boston Transcript.

"My nephew, Oliver Tolliver, wrote me the other day that he intended to commit suicide, because the world lacked appreciation and didn't care for his poetry," stated Farmer Fumblegate. "At noon yesterday I would be dead and gone. I was busy when the letter came and stuffed it into my pocket and forgot it for a time. Just now, since I have read it, I have just telegraphed him, 'Much obliged!' and let it go at that. He already owes me all I ever want him to, and if he wasn't dead by the time my answer got to him he probably died right away after from what they call in stories schav-grin. Bays California Pigeons.

Japan is restocking her pigeon industry depleted by the earthquake a few years ago and is looking to California for sturdy birds. Some time ago the Perla Pigeon Farm in the highway in town received an order of $3000 for its best birds. Last week a similar order was received. Japan wants home but the best breed, and a sturdy stock. It is said the empire will spend the sum of $100,000 in restocking its pigeon farms. The Japanese are very fond of the bird and those of the wealthy class delight in giving winners of tender squabs that tickle the palate and appeal to the inner man. This state will be secured for healthy, strong birds diminishing the supply of pigeons in this state. The demand will also give an impetus to the industry such as it has never had before.

Splendid Service at New Menlo.

The New Menlo Theatre under the new management is presenting the people with up-to-date pictures and giving a splendid service. The box office is resided over by Miss Mary Blanco, a charming and pretty young lady whose attractive smile wins everyone coming to the showhouse. The following is the program for the week: Friday evening, "Breed of the Sea," a flaming romance of the South Seas. Saturday evening, "Lovers War Paint." Sunday and Monday evenings, "Lon Chaney in 'Mr. Wu'" with Renee Adoree and Louise Dresser. Tuesday evening, Elinore Meherin's "Randy" with Madge Bellamy and Harrison Ford. Wednesday and Thursday, Rex in "The Devil Horse" and Leatrice Joy in "Vanity."

Child Hurt By Firecracker.

Zeph Dupont, son of Victor Dupont, received serious burns and abrasions on his right hand on July 4 when a giant firecracker he was holding exploded unexpectedly.

Taken to the Palo Alto hospital for first aid treatment, young Dupont was later removed to his home after three stitches had been taken in his hand.

Chicken Houses Burn.

The Weeks' poultry chicken houses and brooders were destroyed by fire last Monday. The main buildings were not injured. Many years ago the property was bought by Weeks, the father of the chicken colony at Runnymede, from the late Doctor Newell, a former pioneer physician of San Francisco who maintained a home on the San Francisco creek in the late sixties and long before Palo Alto came into existence.

Big Demand for Houses.

Local real estate agents find it impossible to meet the demand for houses for rental purposes. The demand is growing every day. One realty broker is planning to have a local capitalist interested in erecting twenty-five new dwellings and it is quite likely that these houses will be built very soon. Negotiations for the land is now going on.

Cornelson Visits Los Angeles.

Work Begun on Monastery.

Work on the foundation of the new monastery has begun. Nine months will be consumed in completing the building that is to cost $250,000. Other structures are contemplated by the nuns. A sidewalk and curbing will be constructed on Oak Grove avenue in front of the property and choice shrubbery is to be planted and lawns laid out. The monastery is to be one of the show places of the peninsula.

Fire Destroys Building.

An unoccupied building on the Sharon estate was totally destroyed by fire on Tuesday. The department was on the scene early but the lack of water prevented it from putting out the blaze.
